

Peer Assessments by Jean Frédo Louis

Working with Max and Jacob was a great experience. Our combined interest in healthcare made this project a really fun experience.

Jacob

Preparation: He was always prepared to discuss the project and tackled any challenges we faced

Contribution: his ability to organize the group helps us in completing the project in a timely manner. He was always available to answer questions (including programming questions) that can help the project to go faster.

Respect: he was respectful of everyone's opinion and ready to make compromises when needed.

Flexibility: he was really flexible and open to suggestions.

Max

Preparation: he was well prepared to discuss the project, and to learn about the data

Contribution: he always did whatever he said he would do when we need it. One of his major contributions was the data wangling.

Respect: despite the fact he is slightly more experienced in some area than us, he always respected other's opinion.

Flexibility: he was flexible to change his work to fit any new idea.
